Management Consulting by E-Mail

Terms

Management consulting by e-mail service is provided based on renewable pre-payment 30 days periods. After successful payment please sent to jr@jrc.co.za a message describing in brief your company and project you intend to undertake. Please do not sent information that is confidential or protected. Please do not sent any data.

Consulting by e-mail works on the principle that you and your employees form a project team, to implement the project, JR Consulting acts as advisor, coordinator and guide. Typically, the project will require definition, objectives and methods of achieving them. There is no date related schedule, your project team meets when convenient. This support covers anything that is business and management related.
